ABOUT OUR PARISH

Welcome, New Parishioners
and Sunday Visitors:

Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Parish is a canonically open parish of the Archdiocese of Boston, which has a Traditional Latin Mass apostolate. Both the ordinary form of the Roman Rite (1970 Missal) and the extraordinary form (1962 Missal) are celebrated here with the blessing of His Eminence Sean Cardinal O'Malley, Archbishop of Boston. We encourage new parishioners to please register in the parish and to introduce yourselves to the Pastor. We are always glad to welcome Sunday visitors here to our beautiful, historic church. We look forward to your coming again.

PLEASE TAKE THE TIME TO FILL OUT A PARISH

Parish Mission Statement

“What then is a parish? It is the smallest section of the one universal flock which has been entrusted to Peter by the Lord.

Under the authority of a responsible priest who has received the care of souls from his bishop, the parish is, within the Church of Jesus Christ, the first community of Christian life; it is a community cut to human dimensions, in which the shepherd can know his flock and the flock can know their shepherd ... At the heart of this area, we find the parish church with its bell-tower, its baptistery, its confessional, its altar and tabernacle, a symbol of unity and the centre of community life.”

(Blessed Pope Paul VI, reigned 1964-1978)

Pastor's Note

CARDINAL NEWMAN'S NOVENA OF ST. PHILIP NERI

John Henry Cardinal Newman (1801-1890) composed a series of nine addresses and prayers as part of a Novena in Honor of St. Philip Neri, delivered in May, 1875, which were taken from Bacci's Life of St. Philip.

In an age such as ours which is so given over (all at once) to the extravagant promotion of self and herd-thinking as enabled by the new forms of "social media", Cardinal Newman's presentation of St. Philip's virtuous humility offers us much food for thought.

If Philip heard of anyone having committed a crime, he would say: "Thank God that I have not done worse".

At confession he would shed abundance of tears, and say, "I have never done a good action".

To one of his spiritual children who said to him. "Father, a temptation has come to me to think that you are not what the world takes you for," he made answer: "Be sure of this, that I am a man like my neighbors, and nothing more."

He was an enemy to all rivalry and contention. He always took in good part everything that was said to him. He had a particular dislike of affectation, whether in speaking, or in dressing, or in anything else.

He could not bear two-faced persons; as for liars, he could not endure them, and was continually reminding his spiritual children to avoid them as they would a pestilence.

He always asked advice, even on affairs of minor importance. His constant counsel to penitents was, that they should not trust in themselves, but always take the advice of others, and get as many prayers as they could.

He had a most pleasant manner of transacting business with others, great sweetness in conversation, and was full of compassion and consideration.

He had always a dislike to speak of himself. The phrases "I said", "I did", were rarely in his mouth. He exhorted others never to make a display of themselves, especially in those things which tended to their credit, whether in earnest or in joke.

As St. John the Evangelist, when old, was continually saying, "Little children, love on another," so Philip was ever repeating his favorite lesson, "Be humble, think little of yourselves."

He said no one ought to say, "Oh! I shall not fall, I shall not commit sin," for it was a clear sign that he would fall. He was greatly displeased with those who made excuses for themselves, and called such persons, "My Lady Eve," because Eve defended herself instead of being humble.

PRAYER: PHILIP, my glorious patron, who didst count as dross the praise, and even the good esteem of men, obtain for me also, from my Lord and Saviour, this fair virtue by thy prayers. How haughty are my thoughts, how contemptuous are my words, how ambitious are my works. Gain for me that low esteem of self with which thou wast gifted; obtain for me a knowledge of my own nothingness, that I may rejoice when I am despised, and ever seek to be great only in the eyes of my God and Judge.
(Fr. Higgins)

SCRIPTURE STUDY

COLLECTS OF THE ROMAN MISSAL SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 9th, 2018: 16th SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST (Missale Romanum 1962)

For our weekly meditation on the Collects of the Roman Missal, we consider today's Collect for the Sixteenth Sunday after Pentecost. The following is the English translation of this Collect from the Angelus Press edition of the Roman Catholic Daily Missal:

"May Thy grace, we beseech Thee, O Lord, ever go before us and follow us: and make us continually intent upon good works. Through our Lord, etc. Amen."

Unlike many Collects, this terse text is essentially a dual petition. The first petition, that God's grace would "go before us and follow us," refers especially to the mystery of God's providence. God's loving care for us at every moment is exercised through His direct supervision and intervention, as well as through an array of secondary causes (cf. Catechism of the Catholic Church nos. 302-308). Therefore, when we pray for God's grace to go before and follow us, we profess our belief that His benevolent providence works inside and outside of time in real and mysterious ways. It also means that we can trust God to care for everything which is outside of our control. How we need to pause in order to submit to this mystery expressed so briefly in our Collect, and to be consoled thereby.

In the second petition, we ask that God's grace, which we trust is ordering all things for our good (cf. Rom. 8:28), will also work interiorly in our will so that we may be inclined to do good. This challenges us in the very depths of our souls, for the locus of sin is the will of fallen man. On the one hand, since man is created in the image of God, he is not entirely deprived of goodness. On the other hand, Original Sin deprives him of God's grace and indwelling life. Additionally, the deleterious effects of sin so disfigure man's intellect and will, that he simply does not have the interior resources with which to do God's will at all times correctly, or with "ease" and "joy" (cf. Catechism of the Catholic Church nos. 404-5, 418, 1702-7, 1804).

Therefore, we absolutely need divine grace to "attain [our] ultimate end" (cf. Catechism nos. 308, 1708-9, 1810-12). The gift of God's divine life and love within us cannot come through a mere walk in the woods (i.e., the common claim of "nature is my church"). This Collect's insistence upon our need for grace leads us to see, then, why Sunday and Feast Day Masses are indispensable, for Christ Himself chose the Church's sacramental life as the privileged means of receiving such grace.

I would heartily recommend reading St. John Paul II's apostolic letter, Dies Domini, available online and in hard copy formats, which talks about the joy and pivotal importance of divine worship underlying the obligation of assisting at Mass. Even more fundamentally, the Letter to the Hebrews also speaks so eloquently about the integral and indispensable place of New Testament worship in Christian faith and life. Consider the following from Heb. 10:19-25 (RSV):

"Therefore, brethren, since we have confidence to enter the sanctuary by the blood of Jesus, by the new and living way which He opened for us through the curtain, that is, through His flesh, and since we have a great priest over the house of God, let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, with our hearts sprinkled clean from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water. Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for He who promised is faithful; and let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another, and all the more as you see the Day drawing near."

LATIN MASS PROPERS: SIXTEENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

INTROIT: Psalm 85. 3, 5. HAVE mercy on me, O Lord, for I have cried to Thee all the day; for Thou, O Lord, art sweet and mild, and plenteous in mercy to all that call upon Thee. Ps. ibid. 1. Incline Thine ear to me, O Lord, and hear me; for I am needy and poor. Ÿ. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost. As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen. — Have mercy ...

COLLECT MAY Thy grace, we beseech Thee, O Lord, ever go before us and follow us: and make us continually intent upon good works. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, Thy Son, Who with Thee liveth and reigneth in the unity of the Holy Ghost, God, world without end.

EPISTLE: From the Letter of Blessed Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians, 3. 13-21. BRETHREN: I pray you not to faint at my tribulations for you, which are your glory. For this cause I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom all paternity in heaven and earth is named, that He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened by His Spirit with might unto the inward man. That Christ may dwell by faith in your hearts; that being rooted and founded in charity, you may be able to comprehend with all the saints, what is the breadth and length, and height, and depth. To know also the charity of Christ, which surpasseth all knowledge; that you may be filled unto all the fullness of God. Now to Him who is able to do all things more abundantly than we desire or understand, according to the power that worketh in us: to Him be glory in the Church, and in Christ Jesus, unto all generations, world without end. Amen.

GRADUAL: Psalm 101. 16-17. THE Gentiles shall fear Thy Name, O Lord, and all the kings of the earth Thy glory. For the Lord hath built up Sion, and He shall be seen in His majesty. ALLELUIA: Psalm 97. 1. Alleluia, Alleluia. Sing ye to the Lord a new canticle, because the Lord hath done wonderful things. Alleluia.

GOSPEL: Continuation of the holy Gospel according to St. Luke, 14. 1-11. AT THAT TIME, when Jesus went into the house of one of the chief of the pharisees on the sabbath day to eat bread, they watched Him. And behold, there was a certain man before Him that had the dropsy: and Jesus answering, spoke to the lawyers and pharisees, saying: Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath day? But they held their peace: but He taking him, healed him, and sent him away. And answering them, He said: Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fall into a pit, and will not immediately draw him out on the Sabbath day? And they could not answer Him to these things. And He spoke a parable also to them that were invited, marking how they chose the first seats at the table, saying to them: When thou art invited to a wedding, sit not down in the first place, lest perhaps one more honorable than thou be invited by him; and he that invited thee and him, come and say to thee: Give this man place: and then thou begin with shame to take the lowest place. But when thou art invited, go, sit down in the lowest place: that when he who invited thee, cometh, he may say to thee: Friend, go up higher. Then shalt thou have glory before them that sit at table with thee: because every one that exalteth himself, shall be humbled; and he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted. —

OFFERTORY: Psalm 39. 14, 15. LOOK down, O Lord, to help me; let them be confounded and ashamed that seek after my soul to take it away; look down O Lord, to help me.

SECRET: COMPLETE the purifying effect of this Sacrifice, we beseech Thee, O Lord, by mercifully making us worthy partakers thereof. Through our Lord ...

COMMUNION: Psalm 70. 16, 18. O LORD, I will be mindful of Thy justice alone: Thou hast taught me, O God, from my youth, and unto old age and grey hairs, O God, forsake me not.

POSTCOMMUNION: IN Thy goodness, we beseech Thee, O Lord, purify and renew our minds by these heavenly Sacraments: and as a result, may we also receive help for our bodies, both now and in time to come. Through our Lord ...
